Report of Shramdaan

'The best way to find yourself is to lose yourself in the service of others.'

The word SHRAMDAAN means labour (shram) and donation (daan). Shramdaan is a voluntary contribution by a person towards community welfare involving physical efforts. It is a way of helping our community and contributing to help and change the environment for better future. In order to inculcate this culture, Delhi government's Directorate of Education has directed schools to organise 'Shramdaan hour'. Various activities are designed under the same.

To promote the true sense of Shramdaan among young minds the students of Maharaja Agarsain Public School, preparatory wing were encouraged to bring self-cooked food under the supervision of their parents. Students brought varieties of food and shared with their classmates during recess. The motto of this activity was to create a sense of sharing among each other. Sharing is an important element of positive behavioural trait that is essential to help children to develop social awareness from their growing years.
