

ENGLISH WEEK (2nd April to 9th April)

Creative learning always lures young minds and results in efficient learning. The idea behind conducting different weeks is to enable the students to realize and acknowledge school learning by experiencing its practical use. English Week was recently celebrated from 2nd April 2016 to 9th April 2016. Many thought-provoking and innovative activities were conducted for the students of classes 3rd , 4th and 5th .

CLASS 3-Fraternization

The students interviewed each other in their group to gather information on their hobbies. Using the information each student prepared a tabular chart to depict a comparative analysis of the hobbies of all the group members. Then, they gave adjectives to their group mates. After this, each student gave a presentation about his/her analysis. This activity was a success as the students enjoyed it and were able to develop a better understanding and coordination by exercising their communication skills.

CLASS 4-Culinary Artists

Our efficient Agarsainians displayed their skills by making nutritious victuals like sandwich, fruit chaat, salad and so on. It was a group activity for which the students held discussions and planned their work according to their inclinations. Before venturing into victual making each group discussed and penned down the recipe on an A—4 size sheet. Then, they made a group presentation on the same and created a sequencing game for other groups. On the last day, they prepared victuals and served it to their friends and teachers. It was a joyful activity aimed at developing and displaying better coordination, creativity, communication and planning skills.

CLASS 5- Envision Your Future

The whole class had to bring and prepare materials on “India of my dreams” and, later, compile all the work to give it a form of a book. Each group prepared a section of the book. Topics were assigned to them like education, nature, technology and so on. On the assigned topic they prepared collage, diary entry, article etc. The learners discussed and divided their work. Later each group gave a presentation on its topic and the best group was given an opportunity to display its work in other classes. An Inter-Class Competition was conducted to judge the best team. The students of Class V-A bagged first position, V-C got 2nd position and V-B got third position. This was a well-planned activity to enable the students to work individually as well as in team. It was aimed at developing better coordination, team work, creativity, leadership and communication skills.
