

MAPS EXPO -2018

The much awaited MAPS expo'2018 witnessed enthusiastic display of students innovative creation and artistic work. The objective was to strengthen the grip of students and create awareness about issues like Gender equality, Genetically modified crops, Plastic free world etc. The well planned themes were allotted class wise during summer break as part of integrated project. Demonstrating us an exceptional miniature of Agrasainian creativity, students from I-XI gave vent to their imagination through informative and fruitful models, projects and outstanding exhibits. The students from Cambridge wing along with their counterparts in main wing displayed Green reverie and prepared toothsome nutritious snacks. The children also brandished their speaking prowess by narrating a step by step account of their hard work to the parents & teachers visitors. Courteous and enthusiastic students volunteers guided the visitors giving valuable inputs about the various subjects woven together and their significance. Not only was the exhibition colourful and innovative but was also interesting and novel. The hard work of the students paid off as the day was a hit with both parents and teachers alike. The entire school participated wholeheartedly towards the success of this grand event under the guidance of their respective teachers.
