Play is the natural way that children learn and develop. It's important for all areas of development, including emotional development. Montessori is such a tender age group to experience mixed emotions during different activities.

Play gives them a chance to explore emotions and express them in different ways, including words. Students of Montessori were initiated and participate in virtual Musical Chair, where they all were enthusiastic and energetic and showcased their power performance by giving their best along with their family and friends.

Students were very happy and the happiness could be judged by their broad smile during play. Appreciation was given to all the students weather they win or lose. Importance of playing game was made understand by the teacher.

The game ended with a Thankyou note by the Teachers to parents for encouraging and keep their enthusiasms high.
