An orientation programme was organised on 28th march, '08', in the school for the parents.

The parents were shown presentation with an explanation of all the rules and norm that are to be followed by them. A brief of all activities and programmes conducted by the school during the session was also read out.

The class teacher gave effective tips on 'effective parenting'. They also had a formal talk with their wards' class teacher in their respective classrooms after orientation programme. They were given all the other relevant information for their child as well.

On the whole, the programme was a fruitful event and huge success. The parent left happy and content after all the information, attention and warmth with which they were welcomed and an atmosphere, pledging better understanding and working together to make MAPS proud of their family members
