

Teacher's Day Celebrations

"Those who educate children well are to be honored more than the parents for they only gave life, the other, the art of living well."

To mark respect to Dr. S. Radhakrishnan, the second President of India, 5th September is celebrated as Teacher's Day in the country.

The energizing morning of 5th September 2016 witnessed the Teacher's Day Celebrations in the school as students presented a colorful extravaganza. Agarsainians expressed their gratitude towards their teachers through dance performances and gifts. All the teachers were given a unique title that aptly suits their persona. Students of class XII stepped in teacher's shoes and took charge for the day. The entire school heartily thanked their educators for giving shape to their talent and bringing out the best in them. The event gave an opportunity to the students to express their love and thankfulness towards their mentors.

The rocking dancers of class XII enthralled the audience with their foot-tapping performance. A melodious song was sung to honour the dedication of teachers.

After the departure of students, this iconic day of 'Teacher's Day' was celebrated with great enthusiastic fervor in the school auditorium. Teachers enjoyed playing tambola and the dance party. The school management graced the occasion with their presence and admired the teachers on this special day. The program was well appreciated and the day ended with happiness in the air.
