WORLD PULSES DAY

10.02.2024

MAPS celebrated World Pulses Day on February 10th with a vibrant event brimming with educational activities. The discussion underscored the pivotal role of pulses in global nutrition and sustainable agriculture. A lively quiz engaged students, assessing their knowledge on pulses and their benefits. In the poster-making session, creativity flourished as students visually depicted the significance of pulses in daily life. Overall, it was an enriching celebration fostering awareness and appreciation for these nutritious food sources.
